Mr. Hulton opened with short account of the various period the life of the church, when fals in the life of the courch, when lake doctrines held sway. He spoke of the present as the period of "personal evangelism," and declared that "we have at last found the true 'method in the belief that each Christian is

He drew a number of illustrations from the gospels of men who used per onal and intimate relations to lead their friends to the Messiah.

Pursuing his theme further, he spoke the three necessary qualifications or a winner of souls.

First, he said, a man must know the subject of the said of the said

Second, he must be enveloped in an atmosphere of prayer, not actually praying every minute, but ready at any moment to lift his soul in petition for a friend.

The building erected by the Virgina Division, Ornted Daughters of the Confederacy, at the Jamestown Exposition is now finished, and will be turned over to the Daughters as soon as the $2,000 due is paid. That this may be done promptly and according to contract, the different veteran camps and chapters throughout the State are urged to redeem their piedges at once and send in the money due to the treasurer of the building association, Mrs. C. B. Tate, at Draper, Va. The building committee, including Mrs. Frank Anthony Walke and Mrs. Reardon. of Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. Pryor Jones, of Petershurg; Mrs. Normar V. Randolph and Mrs. W. R. Vawter, of Richmond, have done so well and so much that they thoroughly deserve all the support and encouragement promised by the Virginia Veterans and Daughters.

"Beauvoir" is beautifully located, close to the Virginia building, and has a splendid outlook. Mrs. Randolph, who has just returned from a business trip to Norfolk, says that she is more than pleased with the architectural result of the Daughters' undertaking. It now remains only for the financial questions involved to be adjusted.

Subcommittee Takes Action Necessitated by Extension of City Limits.

BUT FEW CHANGES ARE MADE

Possible That Full Committee Will Add Another Precinct to Lee Ward.

A subcommittee of the Council Com mittee on Ordinance, Charter and Reform, consisting of Messrs. Lynch, Umlauf and Fergusson, met last night in conference with Assistant City Engineer H. P. Beck, and divided the several wards of the city and divided the several wards of the city into precincts, such action being made necessary by the extension of the city limits. Few changes were made in the wird lines, and only such as were necessitated by the incorporation of large areas of torritory in the east and west ends of the city. There are twenty-three precincts now, and under the plan recommended to the full committee by the subcommittee last night, but two more will be added—one each in Jefferson and Clay Wards, making a total of twenty-five.

The number and names of wards and the number of precincts proposed will be as follows:

Marshall Ward, three precincts, Jefferson Ward, five precincts.

Madison Ward, four precincts.

Monroe Ward, four precincts.

Henry Ward, three precincts.

Clay Ward, four precincts.

Lee Ward, two precincts.

By the incorporation of Fairmount and a large strip of intervening territory, another precinct was made necessary in Jefferson Ward. The extension of the city southwest of Main Street made the establishment of another precinct desirable there. Lee Ward, although extended so as to take in much additional territory, is not so greatly increased in population. The ward extends westward from Monroe and Henry Streets on the East, Park Avenue on the south, and the northern headed for the south and the south and the so Anonroe and Henry Streets on the Bast, Park Avenue on the south, and the north-ern boundary of the city on the north-to the corporate limits on the west. This oblong strip of territory, running about twenty-five blocks westward to castward, is split in half by Broad Street, and thus divided into two precincts. It is possible the full committee will add another pre-cinct, as no other ward has fewer than three precincts.

A series of newspaper articles on the various phases of the question is said to be in contemplation by the friends of the measure. The fate of the ordinance is doubtful, but it is to be pressed to a final test in the two branches of the Council. As a last resort those favoring the plane will, it is expected, appeal to the people, in which event it is said that a proposition for a commercial plant will be urged also. "The Crucifixion."

The Central Methodist Episconal Church was filled to overflowing on Friday evening by a very representative audience, the occasion being the rendition of "The Crucifixion," Sir John Stainer's most claborate and inspiring work, by the choir of the church, assisted by Richmond talent. This service will linger long in the minds and hearts of those whose good fortune it was to be present. "The Crucifixion" is a very difficult composition, but the choir of old Central Church, under the able direction of Mr. J. P. Dashiel, mastered the situation and crowned themselves with glory.

Mr. J. J. McSuir, basso, and Mr. W. A. Wattens, tener, of Richmond, rendered solos in a very effective and inspiring manner. The organist, Miss Annie S. Penick, contributed very largely to the success of the occasion.

The preliminary services were conducted by Rev. J. K. Jolliffe, paster of Central Church, assisted by Rev. T. C. Darst, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Richmond. The silver offering at the door was quite liberal, and the occasion was generally pronounced to be a decided success.
